

Allergy evaluation may benefit your allergic conjunctivitis patients.
We at ENT and Allergy Associates, LLP are here to help!

At ENT & Allergy Associates (ENTA), our board-certified allergists / immunologists are physicians who are specially trained in the diagnosis and treatment of pediatric and adult allergic diseases. Our allergists provide patients with the most comprehensive, state-of-the-art medical care. Our physicians work as a team with their referring physicians to provide faster diagnosis and comprehensive treatment so that patients benefit from close collaboration.

ENTA understands that eye doctors already provide relief to patients with prescriptions for appropriate drops, but allergy testing for airborne allergens can help both the clinician and the patient hone in on the causes of their symptoms and help make lifestyle changes. Our comprehensive allergy testing includes allergens catered to a specific geographic area. Allergists may also be able to help with additional allergic treatments such as allergen immunotherapy.

Here are a few reasons why you may consider referring to an ENTA Allergists. Your patients may experience:
